Ooooh! We're rich now!
Wait a second, Sir!
What is your understanding toward antiques?
Are you perhaps a university professor or an antique appraiser?
No...

I am Wu Xie.

an antique shop owner.

This is the story of my search for him,
the clues have led me back home from Nepal, where the story continues

Tibet. MoTuo County

Yes.
So these three packages are to be sent to Hangzhou?
Okay, the postage will be...
In MoTuo, there are two types of "post offices"
One type is the "state post", because travel is tough in the mountains, mail is only delivered once per week.
The other type, is called "People's' Mail,"

it's taken by locals either on donkey or by foot, this way they can earn some money, and our express delivery can be quickly delivered killing two birds with one stone
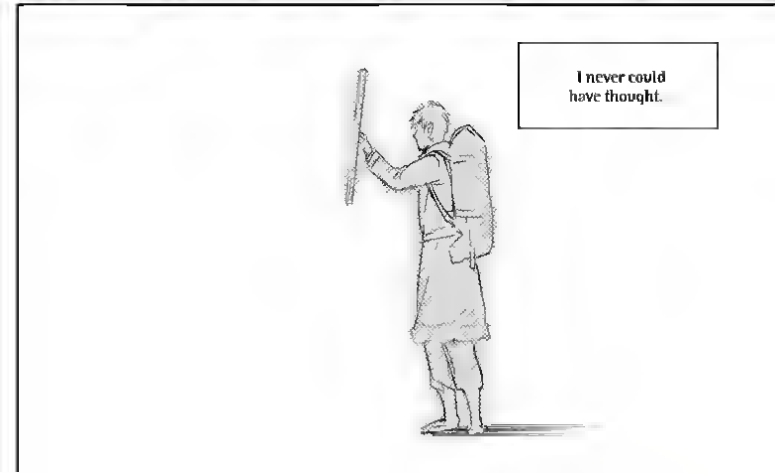
To lessen the burden of my journey,
I'm shipping a collection of Tibetan Buddhist ornaments,
through the "People's Mail" back to Hangzhou

I originally thought,
the story of "him" and I would continue after five years had passed



I never could have thought.

I would already be in the middle of it.

*T/N: "to return found gold" is like "finding a wallet and turning it in"
